Mount Pleasant, Pa.

Class of 1964

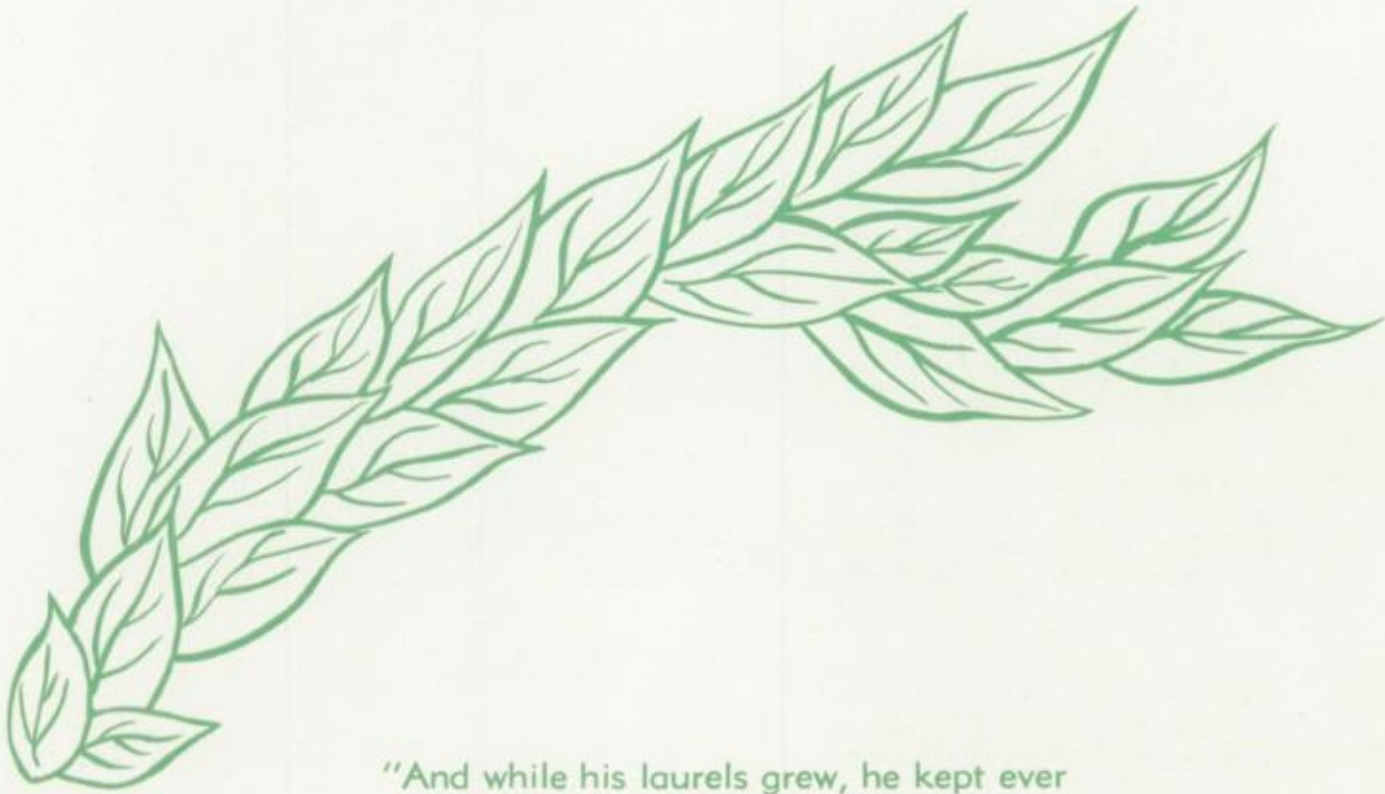

When we think of him, he is without a hat, standing in the wind and the weather. He was impatient of topcoats and hats, preferring to be exposed, and he was young enough and tough enough to confront and to enjoy the cold and the wind of these times, whether the winds of nature or the winds of political circumstance and national danger. He died of exposure, but in a way that he would have settled for—in the line of duty, and with his friends and enemies all around, supporting him and shooting at him. It can be said of him, as of few men in a like position, that he did not fear the weather, and did not trim his sails, but instead challenged the wind itself, to improve its direction and to cause it to blow more softly and more kindly over the world and its people.

FOREWORD

"And while his laurels grew, he kept ever in his view

The heights yet unconquer'd before him."

The LOG staff of 1964 believes these lines by Aristophanes express well the aim of this yearbook. It endeavors to bring to the students and their friends this pictorial and editorial record of memories. We borrow from the great civilizations of ancient Greece and the Roman Empire their customs of awarding a wreath of laurel to the victor in scholastic and athletic achievements. It was a sacred, indestructible ornament which denoted undaunted valor and accomplishment. Champions were crowned with laurels; thus the laurel retained the meaning of victory with honor.

It is the hope of the LOG staff that the following pages will represent the "growth" of our laurels, a record of our triumphs during the past year. We, the seniors, realize these achievements are but the beginning; the "heights yet unconquer'd" remain before us.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

A casual observer looks at the facades of our high schools and sees walls of bricks and mortar. But inside there beats a pulse. Here burns a torch with a flame, firm and steady. The torch is held in the hands of our faculty and administration, who are dependable men and women carefully chosen to pass on to the eager hands of students the torchlight of knowledge.

The administration is constantly making decisions which concern the welfare of all the students in the Mount Pleasant Joint High School. With their help, we are given the facilities which create an academic atmosphere.

Inside the classrooms, there exist the students and the instructors. Though the atmospheres vary with each particular teacher, help is always there, readying us to face the many problems ahead. The knowledge which they have shared will enable us to continue onward to a higher degree of learning.

We, the Class of 1964, recognize the laurels honoring our leaders and are grateful to have been in their presence.

The Mount Pleasant Joint School Board is comprised of members from the borough and township of Mount Pleasant and the borough and township of Donegal. The citizenry of these communities elect nineteen members who assume responsibility of financing the school programs through taxes, of developing a progressive program of study to meet the educational needs of the district's children, of hiring the administration and faculty to conduct the programs of study, and of providing functional facilities in which the educational program is performed.

The new high school now under construction is the culmination of the work and hopes of many persons. Soon M.P.J.H.S. will be one of the finest educational plants in Western Pennsylvania.

Architecture by Hunter, Campbell, and Rea of Altoona.

The English Department helps us by teaching us to communicate clearly and correctly and by exposing us to some of the most effective and classical communications of man. We are taught communications through all manner of interesting exercises in grammar, speech, writing, and memorization. Remember incorporating recondite vocabulary words into a coherent theme, preparing so carefully for Friday oral English speeches, organizing your senior research theme, meeting Mr. Chips or Beowulf or Lady Macbeth or Pip or Silas Marner for the first time, sweating over grammar sentences on a final exam, marvelling at the language of "When that Aprille - - -," falling in love with Emily and George, proudly seeing your composition taped to the wall for all to share, browsing the shelves in the library to find a book to meet the report deadline—sometimes we were so confused we were forced to even think.

Are you sure you read that book?

In our scientific world it is impossible to live a day without observing some scientific phenomenon. Every day we see amazing discoveries and rapid advancements in many scientific fields. More and more jobs require a scientific background. Through qualified teachers, we have an opportunity to gain a firm foundation in this field.

When an emergency arises the school nurses are always on hand to administer to those in need of help. They keep complete records of physicals for each student from year to year along with administering the students' annual physical examinations.

A better appreciation of music is stimulated in the music department. Through participation in the chorus or the band, students find means to express themselves. Each student serves as an individual part and each contributes to the success of the whole. By repeated practice and hard work, the students can present pleasurable concerts in the spring.

The art department stimulates creative ability and gives each of its students a chance to prove his individual talents. Training in this field helps students to understand many of the fine points of art and to develop them. Through this understanding, students learn to appreciate art and to enjoy it.

Included in the business program are various subjects such as bookkeeping, typing, and shorthand which provide the proper background for those who are to pursue a career in the business world. A few of the business students are released several hours a day from school to work part-time in local businesses, thereby obtaining practical experience while continuing their education.

SENIORS

A senior's last year—what can be said about it? It is the end of the beginnings, a whirlpool of unforgettable memories.

To the senior, however, this last year becomes a stark realization which is all too short for the fulfillment of his desires. He has reached the apex of his high school career and is now ready to search for that which will satisfy his goals. The balance weighs his future just as it weighed his past. A senior has been given the basic forms with which to mold his future and now it is up to him to decide what is to be done with them. The training he has received at MPJHS should be an unlimited aid to the learning process which will continue throughout the remainder of his life.

The senior has earned his laurels and the final honor occurs as he receives his diploma on May 28, 1964. Perhaps in his heart each senior realizes there is something he could have done better.

This versatile girl works as secretary for Mr. Freed.

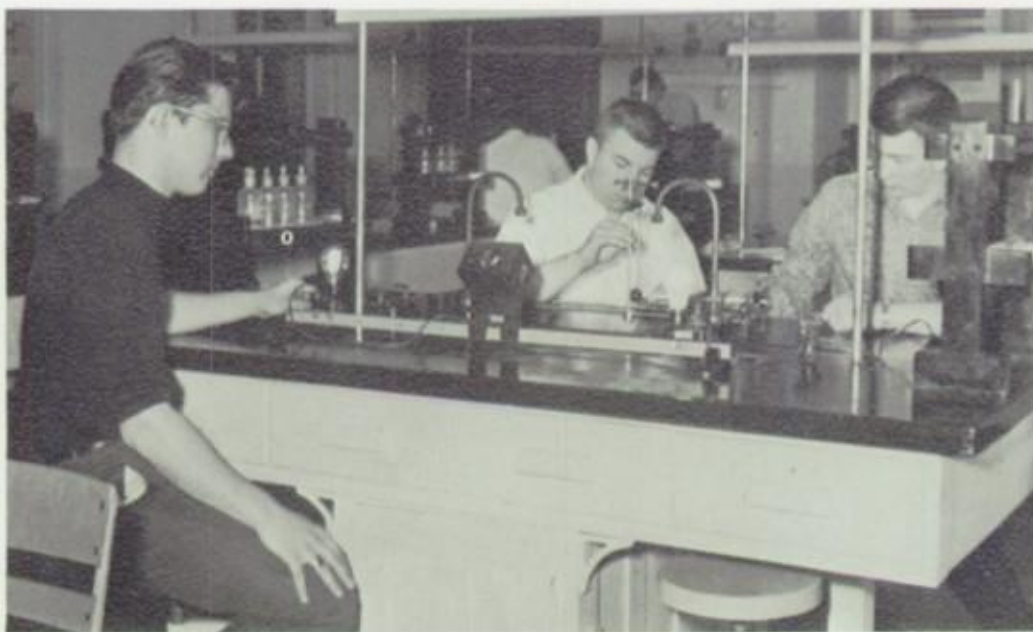

Which one shall I take?

I can't stand the sight of blood.

You'll never get it off the ground.

All alone am I.

Big brother is watching.

It's gotta be in there somewhere.

Memories are made of this—our junior prom!

Sno-Ball Queen, Sandee Fleming

Who says you can't get a man with a gun?

Let us present our senior twins.

HONOR SECTION

With decisions based on excellence of performance meriting individual recognition, choices have been made for an honor section to award special consideration to those seniors who have attained various achievements. Outstanding graduates have been chosen to represent varied areas. These seniors typify success in scholarship, leadership, and citizenship.

A school such as the Mount Pleasant Joint High School has all the characteristics of a successful community. If the community is to be successful, much depends upon its citizenry. In the student body, all look to the seniors for desirable qualities. The seniors should be the most highly respected citizens of the student community. From them come the standards for all to follow in scholarship, citizenship, and performance. Pictured here are those who through their personal attainments in their areas of achievement have contributed to the advancement and enrichment of our school. An appropriate title for this section is "Laurel of Honor." From its wreath stems a garland for an honorable life.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Some say, "These are the happiest days of our lives." Some disagree. But all would admit that these are days that pass as quickly as sand through an hour glass. During these days, we must accept responsibilities for our school and our community. Each year we endeavor to earn our laurels so that one day we can assume the coveted position of being seniors.

The juniors combine hard work and pleasure to attain their goals. Academically, juniors achieve high places on our honor rolls. Romantically, juniors dance at the prom they worked so hard to finance. Ecstatically, a junior can thrill to wearing a class ring, being in the class play, or participating in sports.

The sophomores and freshmen add their ideas, talent, school spirit, and friendliness to the school. To them come the new experiences in their academic lives. They meet new challenges and display many capabilities in scholarship, leadership, and athletics.

Our hopes rest in the hands of the underclassmen, worthy members of our senior high family.

Underclass Leaders

Juniors

Carolyn Marne, President at Ramsay.

What is a junior?

A conspicuous class ring — A box of Christmas candy — A prom committee meeting — Tickets to sell for the class play, or preferably a role in it — A junior driver's license — A band letter — A pink college board exam book — A National Merit Exam — A tally from the Prom — A first year member of the National Honor Society — The sophistication of an upperclassman — A combination of memories of the past and dreams of things to come.

What is a sophomore?

Literally, a "wise fool" — A microscopic view of an amoeba — A class ring measurement — An initiation ceremony for a club membership — A postulate and axiom to learn — A first sign of a sense of class unity — A bus bound for a Latin Festival — A dance queen — A feeling of being overworked and unappreciated — Tryout day for majorettes and cheerleaders — A Saturday morning bake sale — A realization that length of time does not always equal number of things to be done.

Ronald Rega, President at Ramsay.

What is a freshman?

A potpourri of eager junior high graduates —
A locker number to remember — A disappointing class picture — An embarrassed face at pep as-semblies — Class basketball practice — An application for club membership — A stream of wrongway traffic on the stairs — A new auditorium seat to find — A first nervous semi-formal dance date — An unmarked permanent record card — A fear of an I.Q.
Test — A tray of cookies at the Prom — The receiving end of advice from all sides — The subject of many school jokes — An anticipation for the future.

Richard Smith, President at Hurst.

ACTIVITIES

Variety keynotes the activities of MPJHS—from the highstepping marching bands to the enjoyable class plays, from the ever-busy clubs to the serious educational programs, from the dances to the mellow sounds of the choruses.

The students of MPJHS may find many laurels awaiting them through participating in school activities. The satisfaction of being elected to an office, the fun of helping to decorate for a dance, the rousing sensation as the band marches by, the accolades of an audience thundering across the footlights, the pleasure of harmonizing in a chorus—all prove that clubs and activities are not organized merely for social purposes, but to give the students a sense of fellowship and service. And above all, individual creativity is stimulated through each of the school's activities.

Students are hustling and bustling in activities throughout the entire year. The end comes entirely too soon. Then one can only look back at the highlights of his social life. Memories are made of this.

I told you I could do it.

Don't forget to hold on!

But Mr. Myers, why are there three brakes??

I keep my nails real short this way.

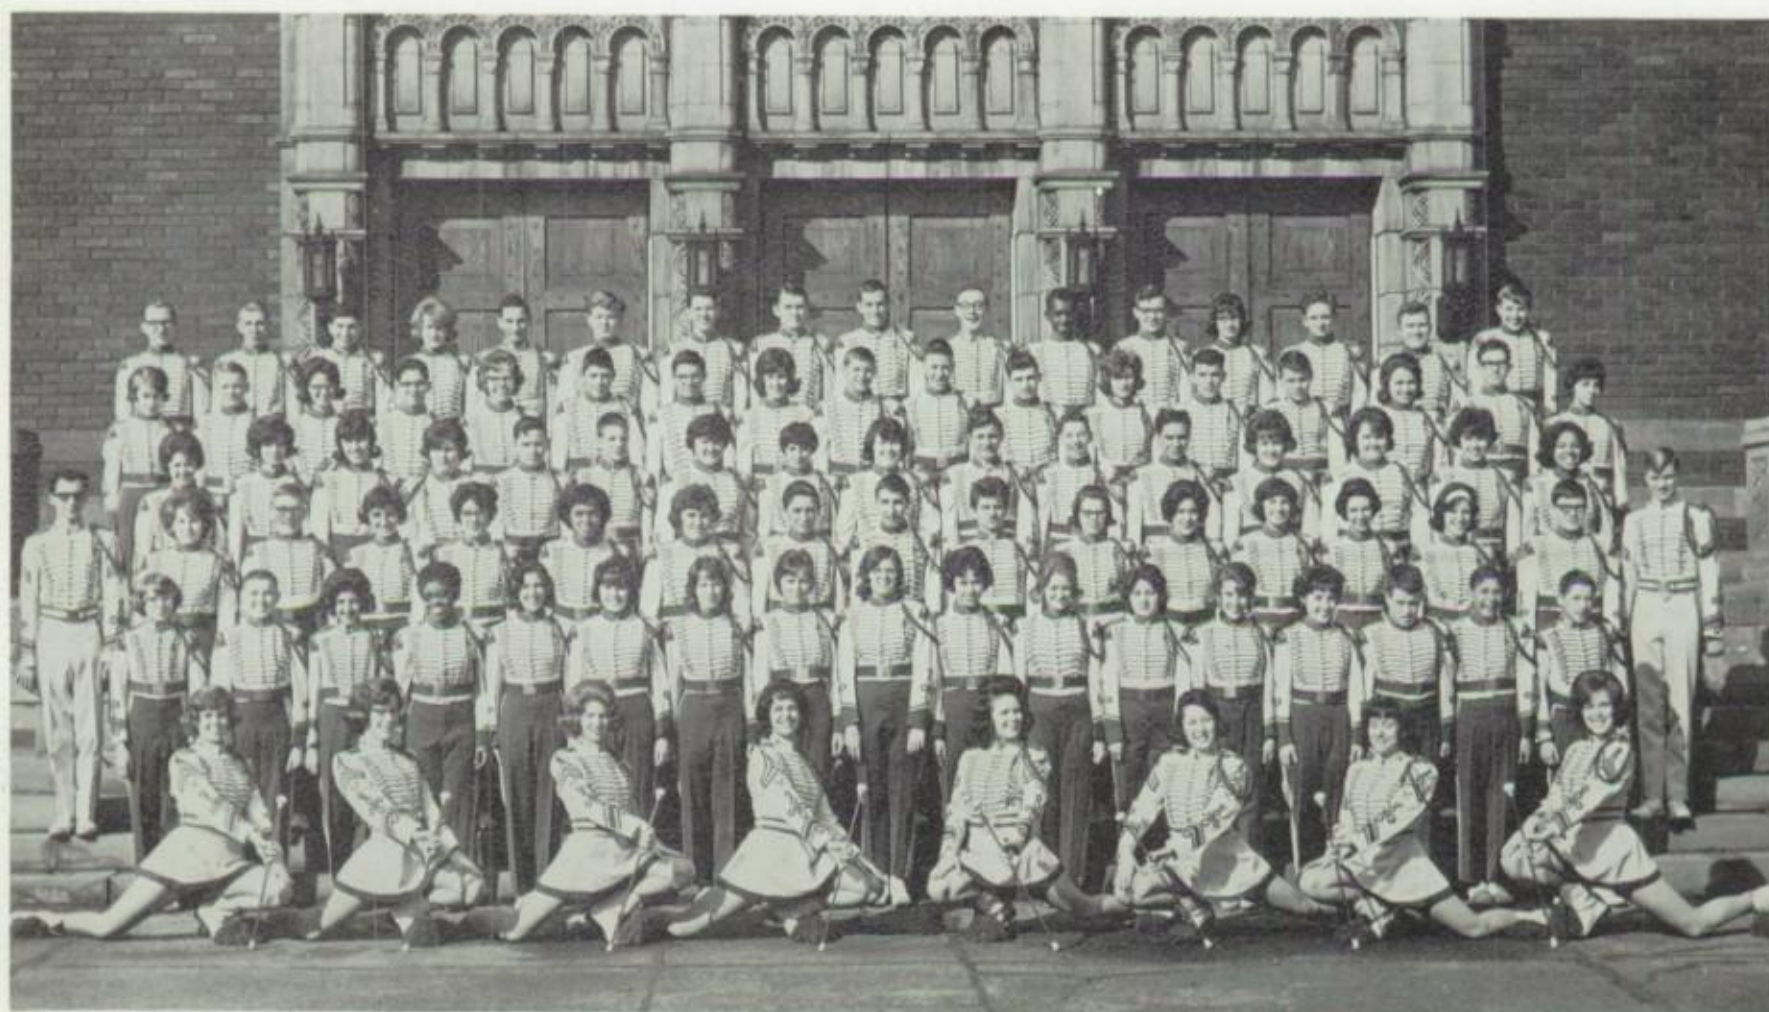

The Blue and White Viking Band

Senior instrumentalists relax from their sharps and flats.

Here they come! A roll of drums, a fanfare of trumpets, a glitter of spinning batons, and the blue and white division of the Viking Band appears in high-stepping splendor. Marching and playing in all kinds of weather, these music-makers kindle our spirits and inspire our team to victory. The band provides many moments of animated entertainment for Viking friends—and foes. We are most proud of our band when we can stand and sing our Alma Mater to their beautiful accompaniment.

In cold weather, it is time to settle down for concert band. Under Mr. Houseman's able baton, the band presents an annual spring concert. It is a time that will not be soon forgotten, especially by the senior band members.

The Red and White Viking Band

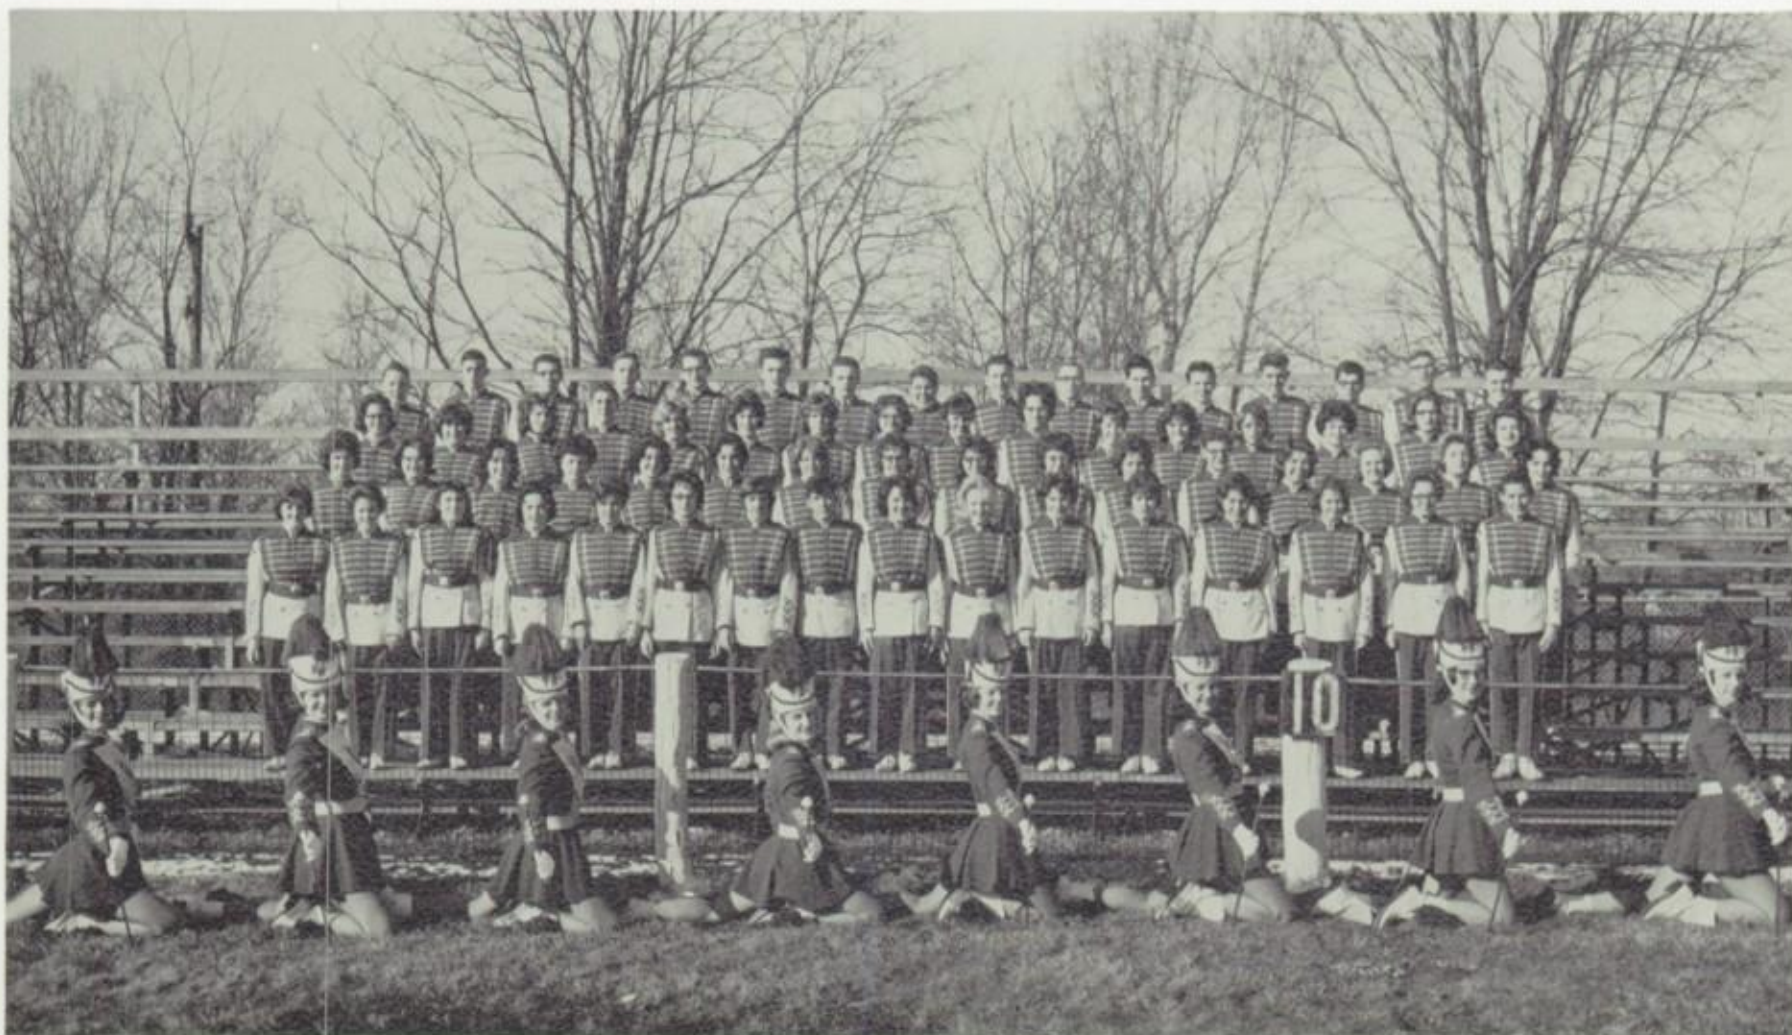

The Red and White Viking band is under the fine direction of Mr. John Faulk. The band has been a big help in building school spirit by playing for football games and pep assemblies.

Our school can be proud of the fact that we have a very fine concert band. Members of our band have attained some of the highest honors possible for young musicians. Our band has had representatives chosen for positions in County, District, State, and Carnegie Tech Honors Bands.

At the annual banquet the senior who has contributed the most to the band is presented with the John Philip Sousa Award.

Class Plays

A play is selected by Mr. Myers for production. Parts are handed out, lines are conned, and rehearsals begin. Many hours are spent in the rewarding, exciting, and tedious experience of learning under a director who badgers, coaxes, and perfects actors into polished products. In this case, the postures and accents of Kentucky mountain folks were assumed by the cast in keeping with "The Thread That Runs So True", an autobiographical play based on the early years of Jesse Stuart who taught in a one-room school in the mountains of Kentucky. It is regrettable that the audience sees only the finished product without sharing all the thrills of the intensive and extensive preparations.

The Birds and the Boys

He was right on our doorstep. Isn't he "Tweet"?

We're from "House Beautiful."

Birdwatching is a fascinating pastime.

A highlight of the fall social season of Ramsay High School is the annual senior class play. On Thanksgiving Eve, following a postponement due to the tragic event in Dallas the preceding Friday, a bright, little comedy entitled "The Birds and The Boys" introduced an infectious heroine named Cricket Martin to the audience. During the course of the evening, the character, played with immaculate care by Gayle Kuhn, endeared herself as she maneuvered people and manipulated the lives of those figuring in the plot. All ended well and the cast, tired but innervated, headed for an after-theater party at Green Gables. Autographed programs, tattered scripts, and personal memories are all that's left.

Cricket and Adam act as newlyweds should.

The loud applause of the audience is reflected in the smiles of the entire cast.

"Father of the Bride" reveals the light and humorous incidents of a girl's wedding plans. The closeness of Kay and her father made it hard for him to understand his daughter wanting to marry a ham with a pair of shoulders. Mrs. Banks tries to make her husband understand but it is of no avail. After an evening of family quarrels, Miss Bellamy's abrupt resignation, and Buckley's groom jitters, the family finally pulled themselves together to have the usual wedding.

Strictly Formal

Here it is Prom time again and Jane and Sally still haven't dates. They are fervently working on two unsuspecting males, George and Jim, and doing quite well, until Marcia arrives. Marcia is the height of sophistication and culture and unfortunately she has every boy in town begging her for a date. Sally and Jane are crestfallen and then to complicate matters, Jane's cousin Cindy arrives. Cindy is the typical country bumpkin and contrives schemes from movie plots. George then asks Marcia to the Prom and Cindy and Jane mastermind a plot to give Marcia the mumps. Of course they were helped by Elroy, a likeable fellow who particularly enjoys putting the shot. Everything ends well, though, after the ruination of Jane's mother's best negligee and Jane's father's flowers and numerable other mishaps.

Our Exchange Student-- Eva-Marie Rossfeld

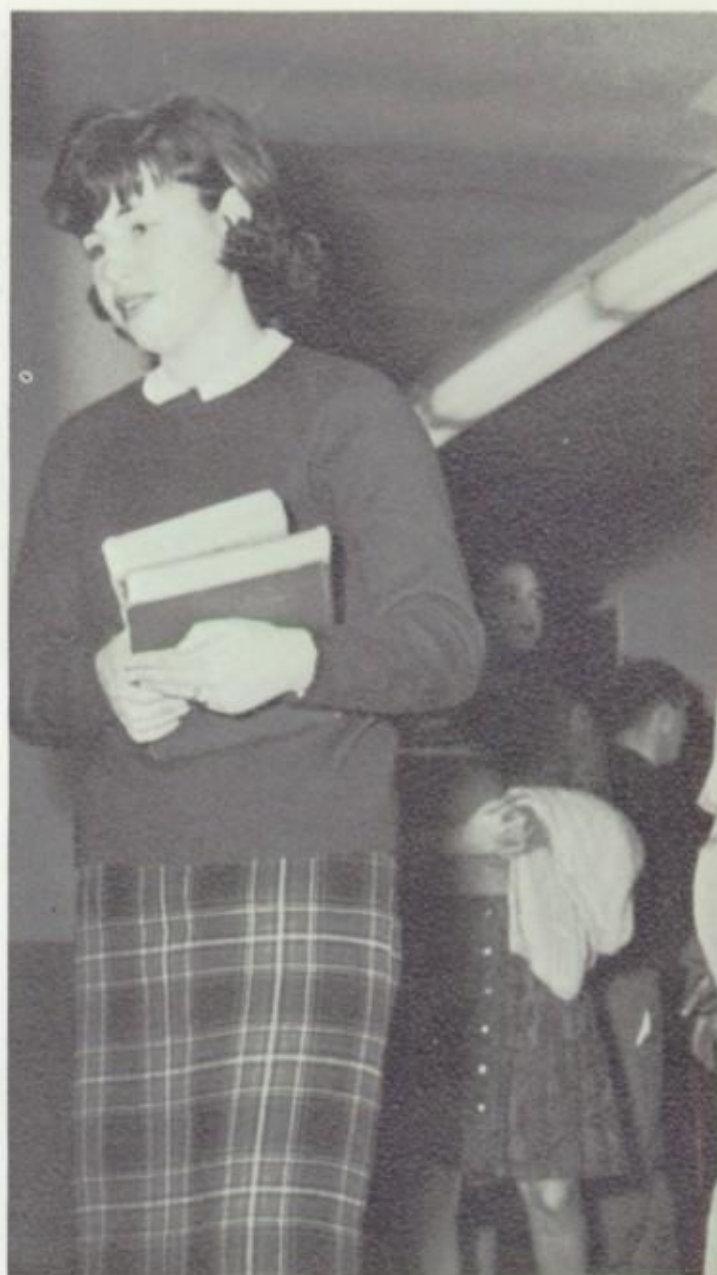

Last year, back home, when I received a large envelope from AFS New York with all the suitcase tags and boat slips, I knew that my dream had come true, that my wishes had become a reality. I had been chosen to spend one year as an exchange student in the United States.

Eager to travel abroad, I had always wanted to enlarge my horizons, to see for myself the true American way of life, to gain the experience of living in a foreign country for a whole year, and to learn the English language properly. I hoped that I could free myself of preconceived and accepted ideas concerning the United States, that I could foster mutual understanding between our countries instead of keeping alive the old feuds and rivalries.

The American Field Service is an organization having the purpose of furthering understanding and good will among the peoples of the world. This is so true. Here in Mt. Pleasant I've participated in the daily life of an American family and I've taken part in the life of a busy community. At school I have become acquainted with American teenagers, living an active life. With all this I have come to like America and the American people. But, I was not just an observer. I've tried to give you a precise picture of Germany and her people—the culture, the social life, the problems. I hope that we have come to know each other and our countries better as we have lived together this year.

When I return to Germany I shall miss America, my family, my friends, my school, "my second home." Thank you for being so kind. This year has been wonderful. I wish success for all my classmates. I say "good bye," or as we say in German, "Auf Wiedersehen," which means that some day I shall come back to you.

With love,
Eva-Marie Rossfeld

Commercial Club

To serve as a stimulus to prepare students who wish to pursue employment in business fields is the main objective of the Commercial Club. Meetings are held once a month under the capable supervision of club co-sponsors, Miss Galley and Mrs. Lemmon. During the year, the club schedules a number of local field trips or guest speakers to explain the functions of local businesses. The members avidly sell Easter candy to raise money for the biggest event of the year, the annual trip to Pittsburgh, which is both educational and recreational.

Senior members of the club make ideal models.

Art Club

Throughout the term, the Art Club members meet monthly to employ artistic talents on assigned or chosen projects. Fundamental techniques of artwork are taught by the advisor, Mr. Comfort. The club annually paints winter holiday scenes in display windows of local stores, while individual members frequently enter poster and painting contests.

The club maintains a busy social calendar, too. In addition to holding a yearly Christmas party, all members attend a spring banquet honoring graduation members. Bowling parties and informal gatherings where members' art works are used for decorations make the Art Club an enjoyable as well as artistically profitable organization in which to participate.

The gala event of the Christmas season is the Sno-Ball sponsored by the Red and White Viking Band. Each year, the highlight of the event is the coronation of a king and a queen who are seniors. This year Richard Dressler and Sandee Fleming reigned over the Sno-Ball. The court was made up of five senior couples, three junior couples, two sophomore couples, and one freshman couple. It was a memorable evening for all who attended.

"Learning to do; doing to learn, earning to live, living to serve." This motto of the National Organization of the F.F.A. has guided the members of the Hurst chapter for more than sixty years. Now that the Agricultural Department at Hurst has been absorbed by the Central Westmoreland Vocational Technical School the Hurst chapter says "good-bye" to its many friends. Mr. Joseph E. The goal of the Future Nurses Club is to encourage girls to enter the rewarding profession of nursing. Each year a one hundred dollar scholarship is presented to a deserving senior who has been accepted at an accredited school of nursing. The club urges the girls to perfect themselves in character, leadership, understanding, and trustworthiness so they may be ideal "Ladies in White."

Under the sponsorship of Miss DiTullio, the F.H.A. Club helps individuals to improve personal, family and community living now and in the future. An annual project is the preparation of the School Board banquet served by members of the club. One money making project was selling guesses for the button contest with the prizes including a large Easter rabbit and Beatle records. All activities of the F. H. A. Club instill in the future homemakers leadership in home and community life.

The purpose of the F.H.A. is to improve personal, family, and community living. Under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Hacker and Mrs. Sara Freed, the girls receive a well-rounded education in home economics by learning to cook, sew, and cope with basic economic problems. With this background, the girls will be able to carry out their motto, "Toward New Horizons."

By far one of the most rewarding experiences is belonging to the Future Teachers of America. Striving to encourage students to enter the teaching profession, the F.T.A. gives a first hand view and an opportunity to develop character and leadership—two requirements for a successful teacher. Each year one day is set aside when the members of the F.T.A. have an opportunity to conduct the class of their own choosing. The faculty sponsor is Mrs. Gayle Harrer.

The Future Teachers of America Club plays a vital part in the high school career of its members. It enables them to become acquainted with the various phases of teaching by film strips, with discussions with teachers, and by college tours. The F. T. A. Club successfully accomplishes its purpose which is to enable its members to realize what qualities are necessary to be a good teacher, to understand our school system and why it exists, and to participate in vocational activities. Under the supervision of Miss Galley and Mrs. Byers, the F. T. A. Club has proved its priceless value to many students.

There is a sport for every sport.

Members of the Ramsay Hunting and Fishing Club, under the leadership of Mr. Ceremuga, strive to promote safe hunting and fishing throughout the area. Feeding wildlife during the winter, thus trying to better game conditions, is one of the duties of the members.

Aside from fishing trips and skeet shoots during the summer, the club members advocate obeying the laws and regulations of the state in protecting our wildlife. The club's motto is "A safe hunter is usually a successful hunter."

Vasbinder.

Under the capable supervision of Mr. Mincucci, the Industrial Arts Club members strive to develop good work habits and some degree of skill in using wood-working tools. To achieve the ability of working cooperatively and the appreciation of good craftsmanship, along with mastering good safety habits, is another purpose of the club.

Raising money by selling sweatshirts and Christmas candles is the chief activity of the Industrial Arts Club. With this money, jackets are bought for all the members. Speakers from different technical schools are also scheduled to explain to the seniors the purposes and advantages of technical schools.

Let's give the machine a rest.

Greek Club

Officers: R. Lazor, J. Kowalczyk, L. Miller, I. Uschock.

Busy at work are A. Glod, M. Firment, and T. Stefl.

As an experimental class this year, the Modern Greek class achieved much in its first year. Instructed by Mr. Harry Stratigos, the students in the class learned a great deal. The response by the students and the ambition to learn the language further insured its success. Modern Greek students were given besides a solid first year in the language, an introduction to Greek philosophy. They were soon shown how much of an advantage it is to know Greek in conjunction with the English language.

Library Club

Officers: D. Kravetz, Vice President; K. Ulery, President; B. Cramer, Treasurer; P. Domenico, Secretary.

Leola May worked as the student librarian in the summer.

A job which is of service to the school and is also informative for each participating student is that of serving as library assistant. Through the direction and guidance of Mrs. Nock, the members become well acquainted with the numerous duties of library work and proper library procedures. By keeping the library orderly and attractive, the members acquire a sense of responsibility. Because members come in close association with the student body, they are able to give helpful instructions concerning the handling and use of the books, magazines, and reference materials.

First Row: K. Loop, D. Krol, J. Amdy, L. Moore, B. McNair, M. May, D. Shaulis, P. Farrell, L. Bittner. Second Row: C. Hout, P. Spence, K. Stiltenspole, D. Moore, N. Costabile, J. Miller, K. Officers: J. Biskop, E. Jones, F. Flowers, S. Fleming.

The purpose of this organization is to arouse a reading interest in the students. Under the guidance of Miss Theresa Galone, the members receive instructions concerning the operation of the library. The members, while reading both old and new books, make recommendations for reading to fellow students. Their ceaseless efforts have caused more students to find pleasure and relaxation in reading.

Sigma Rho is an honor club that is exclusively for seniors who have completed three years of algebra and geometry, and who are enrolled in their fourth year of mathematics.

This club was organized seventeen years ago with the purpose of promoting a lasting interest in the use of mathematics.

Sigma Rho is the Greek term for slide rule, and learning how to use the slide rule is one of the projects the club offers its members. Mrs. Frances Vance is the faculty sponsor.

Producing a monthly school newspaper necessitates frequent meetings of the writing and business divisions of the Beacon staff. By writing copy for the Beacon, members learn basic journalism and gain extra practice in composition.

The writing staff, consisting of news and feature writers under the supervision of Miss Burge, attempts to keep the student body informed and to record school activities. The business staff promotes the selling of candy and stationery to help finance the Beacon.

The entire staff picnics at Idlewild in the spring when Beacon publication has ended for the term.

Karen, Leola, Janet, and Sally are busy typing copy to go to the printer.

A trip to Chicago will long be remembered by Miss J. Rudzinski, B. Emanuel, Miss J. Stohl, and V. Andrews.

P. Czekaj is busy telling P. Porch, V. Andrews, and J. Komarny the best way to make a profit.

This year the Hurstonian was published under the supervision of Miss Joan Rudzinski. The staff enjoyed gathering news and working hard to make the paper a success. A dark room was set up in order that the staff could cut the cost of publishing the paper by developing its own pictures. For the first time since the Hurstonian began, two members of the staff represented the Hurstonian at a national convention in Chicago, Illinois. Bonnie Emanuel and Virginia Andrews accompanied by Miss Janet Stohl and Miss Joan Rudzinski traveled to Chicago by train and stayed at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. The information they acquired at the convention was a great help to the staff in publishing the Hurstonian.

Our photographers are B. Anderson and G. Bungard.

J. Baughman and K. Miller are our two fine Hurstonian artists.

Pep Club

The enthusiastic members of the Pep Club in one of their rarely calm moments.

A familiar sight in Ramsay's halls the day of the big game.

The Pep Club is newly organized. With Mr. Tonnozzi as sponsor, the club's purpose is to instill school spirit in the student body, to back the cheerleaders, and to show the team that the students are behind them, win or lose. The club creates an incentive in our team to win and in our students to represent our school in the best way that they can. Decking the school halls with printed festoons and posters, faithfully attending each game, and cheering enthusiastically are a few of the ways in which the Pep Club has managed to enkindle, once again, a most necessary school spirit.

To acquaint members with the nomenclature and operation of various audio-visual equipment is the purpose of the Projection Club, under the direction of Mr. Miele. The members are trained in the handling and care of the audio-visual machines, some purchased by the club with funds raised through an annual dance. Club members operate and care for the various machines needed by teachers as aids in their classrooms. Another part of their duty is to show educational, as well as entertaining, movies when needed in Lyceum programs.

The only student organization which represents every student in the school is the Student Council. Therefore, it is the most important student organization in the entire school and needs the understanding, respect, and co-operation of students, faculty, and administrative staff. In our schools, The Student Council is a training ground for leaders, followers, and good citizens. It encourages students to become interested in civic matters and to suggest ways and means of improving our schools. Mr. John Simon, Mr. Eugene Cibulas, and Mr. Joseph Stas act as sponsors of The Student Council, a laboratory of citizenship.

Tri-Hi-Y

One annual project is trimming the Christmas tree.

The Tri-Hi-Y, under the supervision of Mrs. Bergia and Miss Sapola, is a very popular club among the high school girls. The organization is one which gives girls a chance to gain a better understanding of each fellow classmate by participation in the many activities of the club. One big event in the life of every Tri-Hi-Y member, is that of initiation. Another of the most looked-forward-to events of the year is the Cinderella Ball. The girls spend much time planning and making arrangements to make it a successful and memorable occasion for everyone attending. All this helps to make the club a success.

Aw, it broke!!!!!!

The Science Service Club is one of the newest organizations in our school as it just came into existence during the 1962-63 academic year. Fundamentally the purpose of the club is to give students who show a background and interest in science a wider knowledge of the present day, rocket age. Under the leadership of Mr. Andrew Evancho, the faculty advisor, the members have already launched a few one stage missiles and in the near future they hope to try their luck with multiple stage rockets. Also in the immediate future, the club plans to enter a science project in the Buhl Planetarium Science Fair.

Under the capable supervision of Mr. Kelly, the Ushers Club has become one of the most active organizations in our school. The members, boys from all four classes, are responsible for handling the duties of ushering, collecting tickets, and distributing programs at the two class plays, choral and band concerts, graduation exercises, and various other school activities. The year is concluded by the presentation of a gift to each senior member and a picnic or banquet for all club members.

P. Cronin, President.

Janyette Ondrako discusses the floor plan of the auditorium with two usherettes.

Black and white are the colors of the Usherettes Club. To assist at class plays, at choral programs, and at other programs presented in the high school auditorium is its purpose. Mrs. Siska, the club sponsor, instructs the members in the correct procedure of escorting individuals to their reserved seats. Each usherette well executes her responsibilities. For this reason, the usherettes are greatly appreciated by all who attend the extra-curricular functions held in the high school auditorium.

The Log

The staff of The Log hopes the memories herein have lasting value. A literal and pictorial history of the school year of 1963-64 is our aim. Many students have worked hard this year to produce a book of distinctive design and character. The coordinated efforts of seniors from both high schools are united to present an overall picture of school life. Though we have missed many deadlines, we feel that the added time has resulted in a more thoughtful presentation. The staff hopes that this book will awaken pleasant memories, be it in the year 1964 or the year 1984.

Hurst Staff

The 1964 edition of the "Log" has been an unforgettable experience for all who have helped.

Beginning in September, the Hurst staff was organized by Mr. Joseph E. Simon and work began. Throughout the year, I found cooperation from everyone especially Kathy Miller, Virginia Andrews, Karen Angus, Larry Myslewski, Dorothy Engell, Judy Olenchock, Joanne Krynicki, and Pauline Sikora who were chosen as editors of their various staffs.

As you turn the pages of our book, I hope you will enjoy this year's example of the "Laurels of Honor" which many of our students have received.

ATHLETICS

The late President Kennedy stressed the value of physical fitness. Through him, we are reminded of the value of this facet of life.

Athletics has always made a large contribution to the extracurricular activities of MPJHS. Football, basketball, and baseball keep the students hustling and bustling throughout the entire school year. With eagerness, liveliness, anticipation, and happiness, not only the athletes but the spectators also feel they are part of the school. Emphasized is good sportsmanship—whether it be a contest between opposing teams, a practice workout in the gym, or just cheering one's favorites.

Laurels go to the coaching staff whose efforts try to give the school winning teams. Honors to the lettermen who promote teamwork and fair play in all sports events. Praise goes to the cheerleaders who urge our teams onward. And finally laurels to the student body for staying faithful, even in a disappointing season, to those who fight for our school colors. The experience of good sportsmanship is invaluable to the athletes and the student spectators alike.

Mr. Charles Muchoney

All too soon Mr. Muchoney was taken from us to God's heavenly kingdom. During his years at Hurst, Mr. Muchoney won the admiration of the faculty, students, and parents.

On the gridiron he worked to develop citizenship, integrity, and good sportsmanship in his boys. Another concern Mr. Muchoney had was for the safety of all his players.

In the classroom he strived to give his students a knowledge of the subject. His warm smile and friendly "Hello" no longer brightens our halls. As we go on day by day, we know something is missing from Hurst. With sadness, we realize it is our beloved teacher and coach's pleasant personality.

Mr. Muchoney's memory will linger in our heart for many years to come.

Homecoming 1963

Hurst Queen—Allyn Joyce Chalfant, Ramsay Queen—Judy Hyde.

Every girl dreams of being a queen. During the half-time ceremonies at the M.P.J. H.S.-Mon Valley Catholic game in mid-October, this dream came true for Allyn Joyce Chalfant and Judy Hyde. Regal and beautiful, they were announced as the winners and were crowned by last year's queens. All through the 1963-64 school year they have served with queenly radiance.

Ten lovely princesses, five from each school, were present as decorative accessories at the coronation. All twelve girls were chosen by the votes of the junior and senior girls in each school, with the one with the highest total votes in each building being honored as queen.

It was a very special night—a memory that will last for a long, long time.

Enthusiasm and support for the football and basketball teams was aroused in the student body by the cheerleaders. Throughout the year the spirit and determination of the twelve girls never ceased as they constantly developed new cheering techniques. Selected by a series of eliminations, each girl must have a high degree of ability as well as a flair for originality. Practices after school and during the summer prepared the squad for its activities. Pep rallies, bon fires, and other student functions were led by the cheerleaders. Each year is completed by a banquet. Sponsors are Miss Ann DiTullio and Miss Sally Younkin.

ROW II: Patricia Cronin, Donna Kowatch, Karen Rega, Diane Woods, Phyllis Miele, Barbara Shinsky.

Viking Baseball

Once again our Viking Baseball team has put their best efforts forward toward a victorious season. Under the excellent coaching of Mr. Clarence Gorinski, last year's team was Section X champs and this year's team will try to achieve a higher goal.

Strike three! ! Batter—L. Hrabak, Catcher—K. Evon. Standing—M. Luckage, P. Tepper, B. Beaver, F. Obracto, and B. Cutlip.

Preparing for another strikeout—
Ray Zelenak.

Safe at second! F. Obracto, A. Knizer, and R. Gerhart.

R. Zelenak is showing his pitching Technique to B. Steiner, L. Biller, D. Baluh, and L. Zaucha while Mr. Gorinski keeps watch.
